Doula and Lactation Provider Managed Care Reference Guide

In collaboration with Blue Cross Blue Shield of NM, Molina NM, Luminar Health, Presbyterian Health Plan, United Health Care NM, New Mexico Doula Association (NMDA), New Mexico Breastfeeding Task Force (NMBTF), New Mexico Department of Health (NMDOH), and other community partners

Introduction

The 2025 Doula and Lactation Provider Managed Care Reference Guide was created to help doulas and lactation providers who want to work with New Mexico's Medicaid Managed Care Organizations (MCOs). These providers offer important care and support for our members, families, and this guide gives them the steps they need to join the system, get approved, and start billing for their services.

This guide is the result of a team effort led by all four New Mexico MCOs, Department of Health, along with the New Mexico Doula Association, The New Mexico Breastfeeding Taskforce, as well as other community partners. Together, we created this guide to make the process easier to understand. It includes the most important steps and helpful information providers need to get started and be successful.

Doulas and lactation providers play a big role in improving the health of our communities, especially for families who need extra support. This guide is one way we can support their work and help them connect with more people.

Understanding Medicaid Managed Care in New Mexico

Overview of Managed Care and MCOs

New Mexico provides Medicaid services through a managed care model. This means that most Medicaid members receive their healthcare through Managed Care Organizations (MCOs)—private health insurance companies that are contracted by the state to coordinate care, manage benefits, and pay providers.

Each MCO is responsible for helping members access a wide range of services, including medical care, behavioral health, and community-based support. In New Mexico, there are currently four MCOs serving Medicaid members under the Turquoise Care program.

Managed care helps improve quality of care, increase access, and control costs by focusing on prevention, care coordination, and partnerships with trusted providers in the community—including doulas and lactation professionals.

The Role of Doulas & Lactation Providers in Supporting Medicaid Members

Doulas and Lactation Providers offer essential services that promote healthy pregnancies, safe births, and positive early childhood outcomes. These providers are especially valuable for members who may face social, cultural, or geographic barriers to care.

- Doulas provide physical, emotional, and informational support during pregnancy, labor, and the postpartum period.
- Lactation providers help new parents with breastfeeding and infant feeding—key to improving infant health and bonding.

By offering culturally responsive and personalized care, these providers help bridge gaps in the healthcare system and improve trust between families and care teams.

Why This Work Matters

Doula and lactation services are now billable under Medicaid in New Mexico—recognizing the critical role these professionals play in improving outcomes for mothers and babies. This is more than just access to services—this is about equity. Medicaid members, especially in rural and underserved areas, deserve high-quality care that meets them where they are. By becoming Medicaid-contracted providers, doulas and lactation consultants help:

- Lower rates of C-sections and preterm births
- Improve breastfeeding initiation and duration
- Support healthy child development Reduce disparities in maternal and infant health outcomes

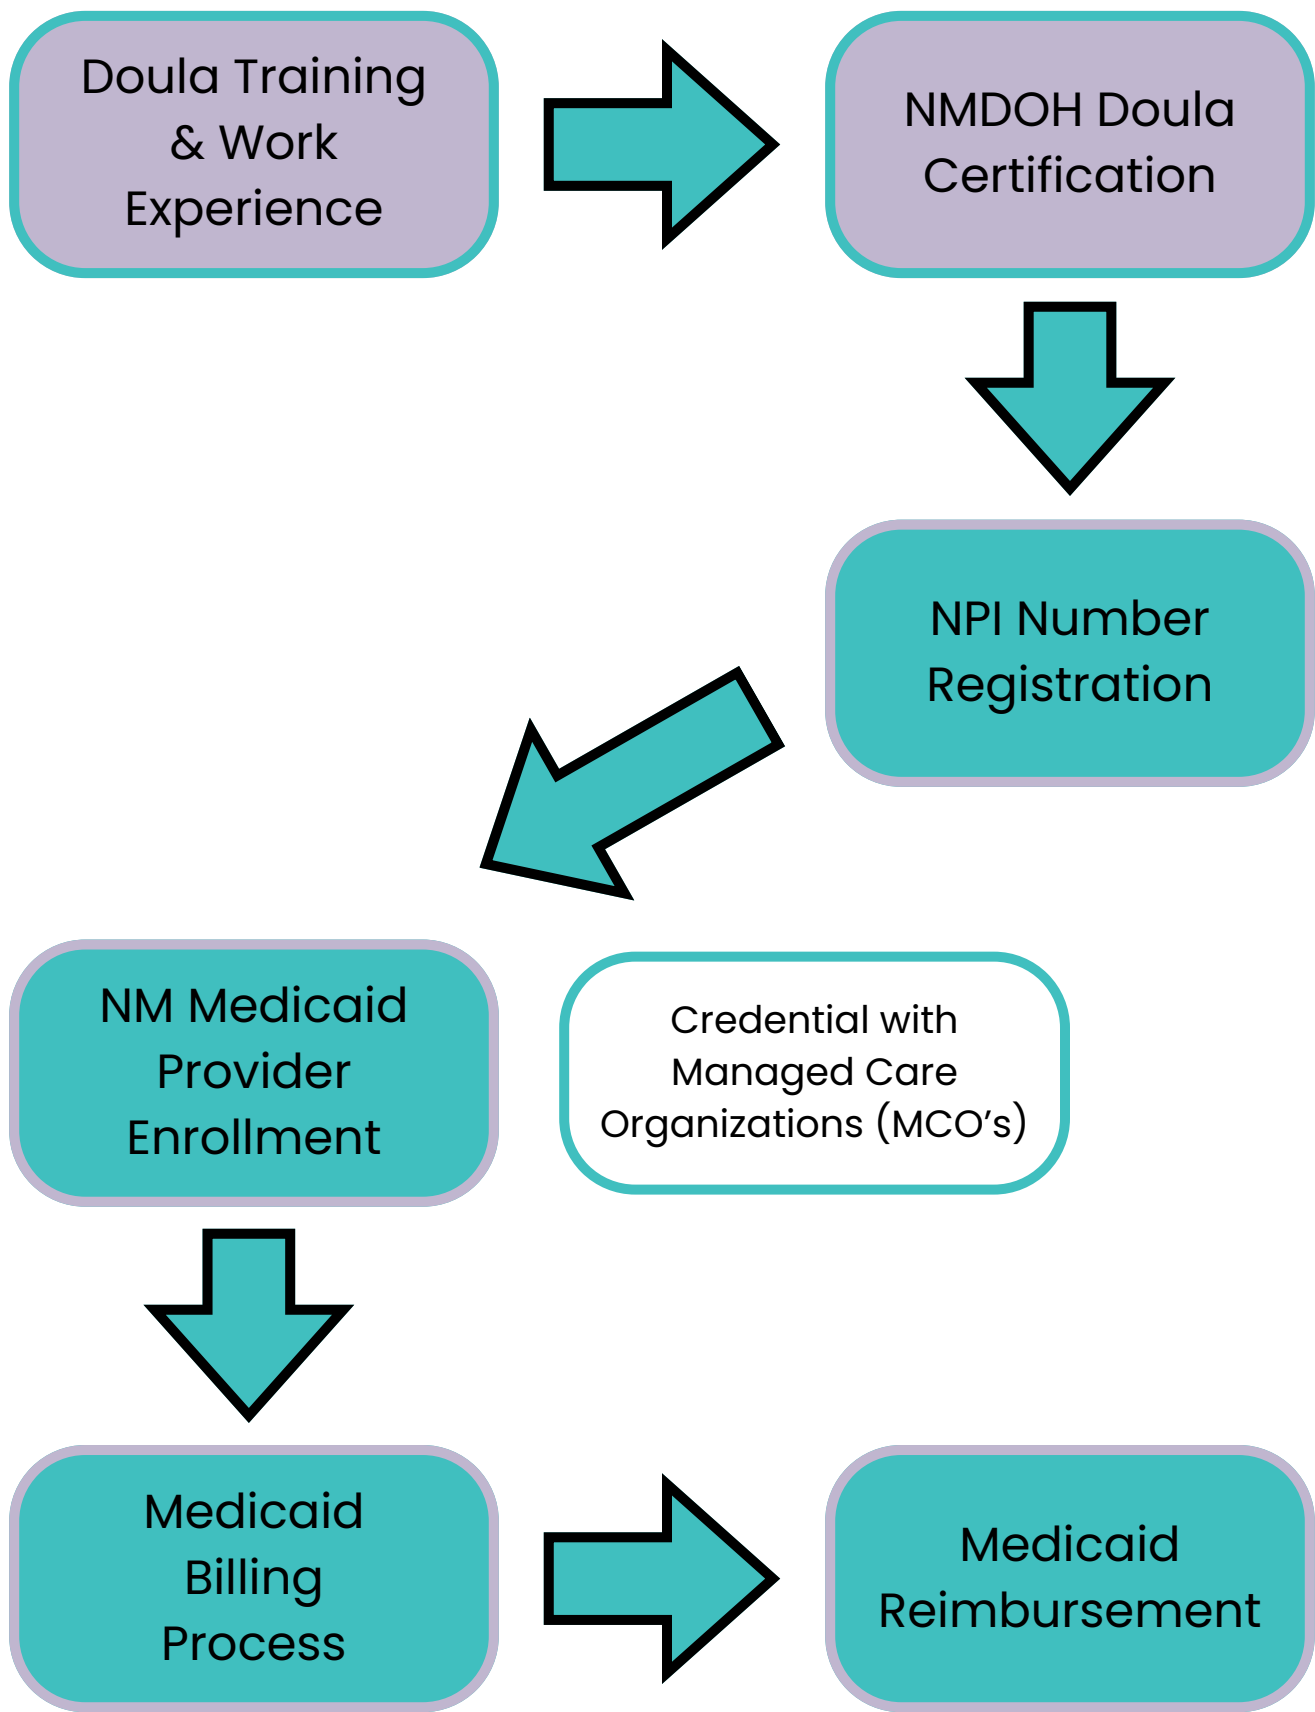

Doula and Lactation Provider's work is not only valuable—it's vital. This guide will help you get the tools you need to become a Medicaid provider and continue making a difference in the lives of New Mexico families.

YES NM – What is YesNM?

YESNM (Your Eligibility System New Mexico) is the official online portal for applying to become a Medicaid provider in New Mexico. If you're a doula or lactation consultant planning to receive Medicaid reimbursement, you must register through YESNM before contracting with Managed Care Organizations (MCOs).

Why It Matters:

Getting set up in YESNM is the first step in the Medicaid process. Without this step, MCOs cannot credential or pay you for services.

What You'll Use It For:

- Enroll as a New Mexico Medicaid provider.
- Update your practice information (e.g., mailing address, license, NPI).
- Link to a billing provider or group if applicable.
- Submit documentation required by HSD.

Common Barriers Doulas and Lactation Consultants Face:

- The system is not user-friendly and may be confusing if you're new to healthcare billing.
- Choosing the right taxonomy code can be tricky (see our Taxonomy Guide in this toolkit).
- You won't get real-time updates, and delays are common without follow-up.
- The process to be listed as a rendering provider under a group or supervising clinician is unclear.

What You'll Need Before You Start:

- NPI Number (apply at nppes.cms.hhs.gov)
- Taxonomy code that matches your provider type
 - Doula: 374J00000X
 - Lactation Consultant (IBCLC): 174N00000X
- Business address and contact information
- Uploadable documents (e.g., certifications, W-9, or agreements)

Pro Tips:

- If you're billing independently, you'll enroll as both a billing and rendering provider.
- If you're working with a group, they'll enroll you as a rendering provider under their account.
- When in doubt, call the YESNM Help Desk at 1-800-299-7304.
- Follow up with HSD Provider Enrollment if you haven't heard back in 30 days.

YES NM – Becoming a Medical Provider

Credentialing and Contracting Overview

What Is Contracting and Credentialing—and Why It Matters

To become a provider with New Mexico Medicaid Managed Care Organizations (MCOs), doulas and lactation consultants must go through two important steps: credentialing and contracting.

- Credentialing is the process MCOs use to verify your qualifications. This includes your education, training, certifications, and work history.
- Contracting is the agreement you enter into with the MCO after credentialing. It outlines what services you can provide, how much you'll be paid, and the expectations for delivering care.

These steps are important because they ensure that all providers meet professional standards and are ready to serve Medicaid members safely and effectively. Once credentialed and contracted, you will be able to bill for services and receive reimbursement.

Important Terms You Should Know

- NPI (National Provider Identifier): This is a 10-digit number required for all healthcare providers in the U.S. It identifies you in billing systems and must be included on every Medicaid claim. You can apply for your NPI at www.nppes.cms.hhs.gov.
 - CAQH (Council for Affordable Quality Healthcare): CAQH is an online system where you store your provider information. Many MCOs use it to verify your credentials. It saves time by allowing you to submit your details once, instead of separately to each MCO. Learn more at www.caqh.org.
 - W-9 Form: This form provides your Tax Identification Number (TIN) and legal business name. It's required to get paid for your services.
 - Liability Insurance: Most MCOs will ask you to carry professional liability insurance to protect you and your clients.

General Steps to Contract with MCOs

1. Obtain Required Certifications

- o For doulas: Completion of a recognized training program and NM State Certification.
- o For lactation providers: Valid IBCLC, CLC, or equivalent certification.

2. Apply for an NPI

- o If you don't already have one, apply online through the National Plan & Provider Enumeration System (NPPES).

3. Register with CAQH

o Create a profile, upload your documents, and authorize MCOs to access your file.

4. Gather Supporting Documents

o These may include your certifications, liability insurance, W-9, and a copy of your state-issued ID.

5. Reach Out to Each MCO

o Each MCO has its own process. Contact them directly or visit their provider portals to start your application.

6. Submit Credentialing Application

o Follow the instructions provided by each MCO carefully. Make sure your information is accurate and matches across all systems.

7. Sign a Provider Contract

o Once you are credentialed, you'll be offered a contract. Review it carefully before signing.

8. Complete Onboarding and Training

o After contracting, you may be invited to orientation sessions or webinars to learn how to use MCO systems and submit claims.

Tips to Prepare for a Successful Application

- Keep all your documents up to date (especially your CAQH profile). Set reminders to review it every 90 days.
- Be consistent. Make sure your name, address, and contact info are exactly the same on your NPI, CAQH, and all application forms.
- Respond to MCO requests quickly. Delays in providing missing info can slow down the process.
- Ask questions. MCOs have provider relations teams to help you—don't hesitate to reach out.

The New Mexico Health Care Authority (HCA) holds the Medicaid MCOs accountable for these outcomes by tracking measures that evaluate healthcare quality, access, and effectiveness of care. These measures are commonly referred to as HEDIS Tracking Measures or HEDIS Performance Measures. HEDIS (Healthcare Effectiveness Data and Information Set) is a set of quality measures that track healthcare services to ensure women and children receive essential preventive and wellness care.
